NOTICE OF ALLOWABILITY

Reasons for Allowance

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance.

It is the opinion of the examiner that the art of record (considered as a whole) neither anticipates nor renders obvious "wherein the means for controlling the strength of the magnetic field includes a microprocessor for controlling the strength of the magnetic field produced by each of the electromagnets to provide different magnetic restraining forces at selected location of the blank of sheet metal during the deformation of the blank of sheet metal" in combination with the rest of the claimed limitations set forth in claim 1, and neither anticipates nor renders obvious "disposing a plurality of electromagnets spaced about the cavity in the first die member to exert magnetic restraining forces on the blank of sheet metal for selectively restraining relative movement between the blank of sheet metal and the first die member;...varying the magnetic field of the electromagnets to provide selected magnetic restraining forces from each of the electromagnets during the deformation of the blank of sheet metal" in combination with the rest of the claimed limitations set forth in claim 11.

Hahn et al (US 5,357,779) discloses a method for forming an article wherein a plurality of electromagnets (440, 442) are used to exert magnetic restraining forces on a blank of sheet metal (532) for selectively restraining relative movement between the blank of sheet metal (532) and a first die member (20) by varying the magnetic field of the electromagnets to provide selected magnetic restraining forces from each of the electromagnets (440, 442) during the deformation of the blank of sheet metal (532) the strength is controlled to vary the magnetic restraining forces and to provide the same restraining forces at selected locations of the blank of sheet metal, [see col. 13 lines 49-55, 63-65 & col. 14 lines 4-9, 27-30, 49-52].

Application/Control Number: 10/591,683

Thoms et al (US 5,377,520) discloses a method for forming an article from a blank of sheet metal (8) wherein a plurality of electromagnets (23) are disposed spaced about a cavity in a first die member (7') [see FIG 5] to exert magnetic restraining forces on the blank of sheet metal until the blank of sheet metal (8) is clamped between the first die member (7') and an upper drawing frame (21') [see col. 6 lines 16-20].

The prior art neither alone nor in combination, anticipates nor renders obvious the claimed invention and no motivation is found to modify the prior art to obtain the claimed invention. There is no motivation found because Hahn et al and Thoms et al solely disclose providing a constant (unvaried) strength of the magnetic field produced by electromagnets and fail to disclose varying the strength of the magnetic field produced by each of the electromagnets to provide different magnetic restraining forces at selected locations of the blank of sheet metal. Claims 1, 3 and 6 are allowed.

Furthermore, no motivation is found to modify the method of Hahn et al with the teaching of Thoms et al to dispose electromagnets in a spaced relation about a cavity of a first die member, because such a modification would destroy the intended function of the electromagnets of Hahn et al. The electromagnets of Hahn et al control the movement of a redraw sleeve therefore modifying the placement of the electromagnets to be spaced about the cavity in the first die member would prevent the electromagnets from controlling the actuation of the redraw sleeve. In addition, there is no motivation to modify the method of Thoms et al with the teaching of Hahn et al to vary the magnetic field of the electromagnets to provide selected magnetic restraining forces form each of the electromagnets during the deformation of the blank of sheet metal because the electromagnets of Thoms et al are deactivated once the blank of sheet metal is clamped between the first die member and the upper drawing frame and the relative movement between the blank of sheet metal and the first die member is controlled by the clamping pressure exerted on the blank of sheet metal by the upper clamping frame and first die member. Claim 11 is allowed.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
